Chapter 11-13
In chapter 11, what happens to the houses after the people leave?
In Chapter 12, the writer explains that “it’s a terror” between towns. Why?
Why was the man at the gas station rude to the Joads?
Why was the gas station man thinking about going to California himself?
Why did Winfield throw up?
What happened to grandpa?
How did the Joads break the law? Why?
What decision did the Wilsons and Joads make?
Chapter 14
In your own words, what is the theme of chapter 14?
Find one sentence in chapter 14 that is a great example of Steinbeck’s writing style in this chapter.
Describe the stylistic aspects of this sentence.
What added meaning do these stylistic aspects contribute to the sentence and chapter?